Huge demand for English Teachers and TEFL certified professionals in China, Japan, Taiwan and Indonesia.

English as a subject today has become an integral part of education all over the globe. Especially country like china has become a economic super power, but their major drawback is they do not have command over English language. For last few years, China has made English as compulsory subject in schools, their problem is they do not have English teachers to train its student, and that is the reason many British, European, American and Canadian nationals have migrated to China as English Teachers, in fact, these white skin teachers are very expensive for fast developing country like china and that low cost manpower countries like Sri Lanka and India have taken advantage of it. Similarly Nepal can also capitalise on this great opportunity. There are hundreds of B.A., B.Ed., M.A., M.Ed. graduates from Nepal who either are jobless or get very little pay, with some dedication and correct direction you can make a lucrative career as English teacher.
